Tourism between the UK and Europe

Traditionally tourism between the UK and other European countries has always been strong.

UK residents take 76% of their outbound holidays in European countries and 63% of inbound visitors to the UK are from Europe.

Business tourism in the UK also benefits from European visitors, 68% of business visits to the UK are from European countries, which totals 6 million visitors.

Taking a short break to a city, known as a city break, is popular throughout Europe.

Tourism in Honduras

Honduras is a country located in Central America.

Honduras has a tropical climate. The main tourist season is from January to June and the hurricane season runs from June to November. During the hurricane season, roads in Honduras can be affected by landslides and flooding.

Honduras is a developing destination that is experiencing a steady increase in tourism arrivals. The country now welcomes over 2 million visitors who spend more than $700 million.

Visiting cruise ships bring the majority of tourists to the country, bringing over a million tourists per year.

Tourists to Honduras enjoy remarkable archaeological sites, outstanding diving, adventure tourism, birdwatching experiences, coffee tourism, beaches and a varied ecosystem.

The government of Honduras wants the tourism industry to develop and expand further, however, safety fears within the country could limit the appeal of the country to international tourists.
